DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This farmstead is located in a narrow strip of land between U. S. Route 40 and Beaver Creek Road near their intersection southeast of Hagerstown in Washington County. The house is located on an area of level ground and faces northwest. It was built in two sections, its front section of brick resting on fieldstone foundations while the back part forming an ell extension is a two story, three bay stone structure which would appear to predate the brick building.

The brick section displays common bonding at all elevations with generally six courses of stretchers between header rows. All major windows have six over six pane double hung sashes held within narrow frames finished with a bead at the inside edge. Wide wooden lintels are present above the doors and windows. The main entrance is located in the west end bay of the front elevation. A seven panel door is hung beneath a six light transom. A one bay entrance porch supported by square posts shelters the front door.

The stone ell is constructed of native limestone and appears to have been painted red at one time. Some changes have been made to doors and windows in its southwest wall. Apparently the door that appears in the center bay of this wall was created from a window. Existing first story windows in this wall have frames matching those of the main section. Other windows have massive frames with pegged joints with quarter round trim. A double porch has been added along the front or southeast elevation of the stone section. This part of the house stands directly over a spring.

The main section at the interior has a large entrance and stair hall onto which open two rooms which have been made into one large area.

Behind the house are brick and stuccoed outbuildings. A frame bank barn stands to the southwest.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

This house and barn are an example of a farm complex dating from more than one period. The house has stone and brick sections with the stone part, now a kitchen wing, appearing to date from the early 19th century. The brick section which forms the major portion of the house has characteristics which associate it with the mid 19th century and is actually an addition.

During much of the 19th century this farm was owned by the Gantz and Eakle families respectively. It was sold on April 22, 1856 by John Gantz to Henry Eakle, (IN11/205). Records do not indicate how or when Gantz acquired the farm but he sold it for the substantial price of $11,379, suggesting that improvements were present. Parts of the following land grants are included in the farm: "Earhart's Industry," "Bond's Refusal" and "Resurvey on Madcap's Meadow."
